Synopsis: Beckett is a pampered and selfish cat who totally takes for granted the lucky hand he has been dealt. All that is about to change, however, when he carelessly loses his ninth life.

With no lives left and faced with the inevitable, Beckett pleads for things to be back to how they were. At first his request is refused but in a moment of exceptional empathy, the 'Gatekeeper' has a change of heart and allows him to return to earth with a whole new set of lives. What he doesn't realise immediately however is that each of these new lives will see him return in a variety of different forms...each one teaching him a valuable & timely lesson.

It is a journey that sees Beckett turn from gloriously self-absorbed pet to a self-sacrificing hero; because sometimes you must travel many different roads to find the very best version of yourself.

Emily

Cast: Emma Mackey, Emily Beecham, Joe Alwyn, Fionn Whitehead
Genre: Romance
Director: Frances O'Connor
Status: Completed

Synopsis: Emily (Emma Mackey) wears a mask. The world tells her she must be quiet, obedient, dutiful. She certainly must neither speak her mind nor share her thoughts, feelings, and dreams. Emily though, is wildly alive. She rages with emotion, has a voice yearning to be heard, and her mind is overwhelmed by imagination. She has no interest in staying silent and doing what others want. And Emily is about to show you why.

Debut filmmaker Frances O'Connor finds her own voice, immersing you in Emily Brontë's hidden world: Emily is a rebel and misfit, a young woman daring to form herself, to embrace her true nature...to hell with the consequences.

We share the innermost relationships that inspired Emily. They are revelations of untold truths – her raw, passionate sisterhood for Charlotte (Emily Beecham) and Anne; her first aching, forbidden love for Weightman (Joe Alwyn) and her care for her maverick brother (Fionn Whitehead) whom she idolises.

Who was this young woman whose heart burned with such love and life, and who wrote literature's timeless and searing masterpiece, Wuthering Heights?

EMILY shouts directly to women today: not to hide behind a mask, but to challenge themselves – find their authentic voice, seize humanity, and unleash their own potential.

Goldfish

When the music emerged from the collision of the lyrics and two cultures, it began to shape the palette of the piece.

Joyride

Synopsis: JOY and MULLY are two lovable rogues, a pair of diamonds in the rough. JOY (Olivia Colman) is pissed off – she's got a baby and motherhood does not come naturally to her. She has to toss her own dreams aside and give this screeching monster unconditional love? And, if honest to herself, when she looks in the mirror she sees a train-wreck and the shadow of her own neglectful mother.

Twelve-year-old MULLY also has a mum-shaped void in his life. The problem now is that his Dad is a conman, preying on Mully's innocence to fulfil his dodgy criminal habits. But Mully's got balls. He knicks his Dad's stash of cash and steals a taxi in a bid for freedom. Suddenly there's an almighty yell from the back seat. It's Joy, hungover and freaking out from having passed out. And she's holding a baby!!!! Joy is looking for an escape too – hoping to dump the child with her best friend. Joy's journey is fuelled by personal conflict, a lack of confidence, and a bit too much booze. The stakes are high... Mully's Dad is in serious trouble, on the hook to some seriously dangerous players, and Mully is the one with their cash.

Blasting through border patrols, nicking more cars, it's a hoot – especially during the Summer Solstice festivities. It's colourful, chaotic and just good fun. What we really discover is that Joy needs to reclaim herself – unloved by her mother, she has never felt whole. And Mully, unloved by his father, needs to reclaim his childhood.

As they tear up the road on their riotous misadventure, these roguish 'outlaws' come full circle – and have their dreams come true.

A feel-good, foul-mouthed fairy-tale.
